

NFL POWER RANKINGS

WEEK 3: VINCE MAROTTA

RANK	TEAM	COMMENT
1	Kansas City	Man, Kareem Hunt is the greatest Kareem in sports history. OK, on second thought...
2	Atlanta	Impressive two-way performance vs. Green Bay. Losing Vic Beasley will hurt though.
3	Oakland	Best point differential through two weeks (+35).
4	Denver	Defense looked ferocious against Dallas and Trevor Siemian is tied for league-lead in TD passes.
5	Pittsburgh	2-0, but they've played against a rookie QB and Case Keenum. And they Mike Glennon Sunday.
6	New England	Good bounce-back performance on the road in New Orleans.
7	Green Bay	Dominated in Atlanta. Should dominate vs. Cincinnati.
8	Tampa Bay	Easy win against the Bears after having to wait a week to play.
9	Baltimore	This defense is for real. Losing Marshall Yanda will hurt the offensive line.
10	Dallas	Tough day for Ezekiel Elliott, but at least he didn't pout.
11	Detroit	Took care of Giants in the Meadowlands...Showdown vs. Atlanta Sunday could prove they're for real.
12	Carolina	A win without a touchdown. See, it is possible Bengals and 49ers.
13	Seattle	One offensive touchdown in two games. Still can't understand their offensive line strategy.
14	Miami	Cutler decent in debut. Of course, they were six inches away from losing.
15	Philadelphia	Played KC tough, but I see a .500 team when I look at the Eagles.
16	Tennessee	Offense got untracked with 31-point second half in Jacksonville.
17	Minnesota	Bradford injury casts a shadow on nice opening day win vs. Saints. Timetable for return not clear.
18	Washington	Dominating running performance vs. Rams even with Donald back.
19	LA Rams	Todd Gurley has shown a pulse so far this year, so that's a good sign.
20	Arizona	A win is a win is a win.
21	Jacksonville	Only two picks for Bortles against Tennessee.
22	Houston	Got a win, but only against the toothless Bengals
23	LA Chargers	If they could only make a FG. But, there was a lot of crowd noise from Dolphins fans in their new "home" stadium.
24	Buffalo	Defense has allowed one TD in two games.
25	New Orleans	30 points allowed in first half to Patriots. I guess defense is still a problem? 65 PA in two games.
26	NY Giants	Eli responsible for sloppy QB play. Who's responsible for Ben McAdoo's sloppy haircut?
27	Cleveland	Two weeks in, and DeShone Kizer already has headaches.
28	Indianapolis	Jacoby Brissett looked poised against Cardinals. Should hold down the fort until Andrew Luck is back.
29	Cincinnati	Awful.
30	Chicago	After a promising (yet losing) performance vs. ATL, the real Bears showed up against Tampa Bay.
31	San Francisco	Over 137 minutes without a TD. I guess an offensive genius still needs players.
32	NY Jets	Not deserving of a comment.
